Last Year Against CMU

The Tomcats suffered a 41-7 PAC loss to the Carnegie Mellon Tartans at Alumni Stadium on Oct. 20, 2018.

The Tartans scored on the opening drive of the game when Rory Hubbard darted into the end zone from three yards out to cap off a nine-play effort.

The Tomcats drove the ball on their opening drive of the game, but Thomas Polutchko picked off a pass on a second-and-10 play at the Tartan 31-yard line and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown to open up a 14-0 lead.

Thiel's offense went back to work on the ensuing drive and cut the lead in half when Damon Smith threw a 36-yard touchdown pass to Devin Turner to cap off a 10-play drive that covered 73 yards and consumed 5:26 of the first quarter clock.

Carnegie Mellon went on to score 34 unanswered points over the remainder of the game while refusing to give up another point to Thiel.

Radke scored the first touchdown of the game with 13:25 remaining in the second quarter on a 23-yard run around left end that capped off a 14-play, 80-yard drive that consumed nearly six minutes of the game clock. Colin Peal added the extra point to give Thiel a 7-0 lead.

Two drives later Radke helped increase Thiel's lead to 13-0 when he lobbed an 8-yard touchdown pass to Johnson in the back corner of the end zone. Johnson's touchdown catch finished off a 7-play, 59-yard drive.

The Tartans pieced together a good drive at the end of the second quarter and scored their first touchdown of the game on a one-yard run by Sam Bengner with 27 seconds remaining before

ABOUT THE PRESIDENTS' ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

The Presidents' Athletic Conference (PAC), built on the basic belief that an athletic program is an integral part of college life, but not an entity in itself, looks back on over sixty years of growth and ahead to years of continued academic and athletic excellence.

The league's name clearly reflects its founding principle that operational control of all aspects of intercollegiate athletics is ultimately the responsibility of the presidents of each member institution, and thus active presidential leadership and oversight is paramount in conference administration.

Formally organized in 1955 by Western Reserve University, John Carroll University, Case Institute of Technology and Wayne State University, the PAC was the result of a realization that college athletics, despite numerous virtues for the individual and the institution, were gradually becoming a financial and academic burden. If athletics were to be continued, action had to be taken to place the program on its proper level. This included the premise that benefits of participation should be provided to as many students as possible. The PAC and its membership continue its original, defining mission of promoting intercollegiate athletics and the pursuit of academic excellence.

Institutions involved understand that the key components to its progress lie in the foundation of faith in each member by each other member. It is the conviction of its membership that the PAC is the solution to the dilemma of intercollegiate athletic competition, and they have staked their athletic future on this premise.

Comprised of 10 select private institutions - Bethany College, Chatham University, Franciscan University of Steubenville, Geneva College, Grove City College, Saint Vincent College, Thiel College, Washington & Jefferson College, Waynesburg University and Westminster College - the PAC remains a unique organization in this day of high pressure intercollegiate athletics, with academics at the center of each member's philosophy.

In 2012, the PAC Presidents' Council voted to add Carnegie Mellon University and Case Western Reserve University as affiliate members in the sport of football.

The PAC crowns league champions and awards all-conference honors in its 23 championship sports. Head coaches determine All-PAC squads for all team sports, while in individual sports, such as cross country, golf and indoor and outdoor track and field, all-PAC accolades are based upon performances at the conference championships.

The PAC, which recently celebrated its 60th anniversary, annually awards its men's and women's All-Sports Trophies to the schools which perform best across the board in PAC competition.

Staying true to its original mission of promoting intercollegiate athletics and the pursuit of academic excellence, the PAC has seen over 200 of its participating student-athletes recognized as Academic All-Americans, while the league has also produced numerous NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winners. Last year, the conference named 1,097 of its student-athletes to the PAC Academic Honor Roll, which recognizes all participating student-athletes who earn a term grade-point average of 3.60 or above.
